Achievements

World records

Korea's Lee Woo Seok and Choi Misun raised the recurve mixed team ranking round record by four points after scoring 688 and 680, respectively, over qualification at the second stage of the 2019 Hyundai Archery World Cup in Shanghai, China. "I hadn't realised we'd broken the world record. It's good to break it, I'm happy, but this is just the start of the competition. The eliminations are more important," said Misun.

Great Britain's compound women seeded fourth at the qualification of the third stage of the 2019 Hyundai Archery World Cup in Antalya, Turkey and broke the junior team ranking round world record for the second time this year. Layla Annison, Ella Gibson and Lucy Mason increased their own score by nine to a combined 2075 points.

European record

Seventeen-year-old Amanda Mlinaric scored 704 out of a possible 720 points for the 72-arrow 50-metre ranking round to set a new European junior record – subject to ratification – and lead qualification at the third stage of the 2019 Hyundai Archery World Cup in Antalya, Turkey. She also currently holds the cadet world record at 699 points.

Shanghai 2019

The second stage of the 2019 Hyundai Archery World Cup took place in Shanghai, China on 6-12 May. It was the second chance for archers to secure automatic spots at this year's World Cup Final and join Medellin winners Sara Lopez, Mike Schloesser, Kang Chae Young and Brady Ellison.

After So Chaewon called Shanghai a "one-time opportunity" to qualify for the Hyundai Archery World Cup Final early in the week, with it being the only stage the Korean compounds will attend in 2019, she shot 148 points in the compound women's final to claim her first international victory.

Gellenthien got a little lucky in the compound men's final, his Belgian debutant for an opponent gifting him an eight with his last arrow. And Lee Woo Seok also finished with an eight – to beat compatriot Kim Woojin for recurve men's gold.

Kang Chae Young won her second consecutive stage of the 2019 Hyundai Archery World Cup. The automatic space for the final available in Shanghai was therefore released, meaning four – rather than three – athletes will qualify on circuit ranking.

The Korean recurve women's team extended its unbeaten run to six stages over 21 months.

Antalya 2019

Danelle Wentzel beat Alexis Ruiz of the USA to the compound women’s title in Antalya to become the first South African archer to win a stage of the Hyundai Archery World Cup in history. She took the final by three points, 144-141.

Danelle’s win wasn’t the first time on the day that the crowd in Antalya heard the South African anthem. Jeanine van Kradenburg and Reuben Brent-Meek dropped just two points in a high-quality mixed team final against experienced Danes Stephan Hansen and Tanja Jensen.

James Lutz, who made his international debut at the event, shot a perfect 150-point match to beat USA teammate and defending Hyundai Archery World Cup Champion Kris Schaff by a point in the final of the third stage of the circuit in Antalya.

The gold and bronze medals were both won with perfect 150-point matches. Mike Schloesser, who came close to cleaning his final at the first stage of the season in Medellin, beat Daniel Munoz to bronze with 150 points, too.

Tan Ya-Ting, Peng Chia-Mao and Lei Chien-Ying beat Mexico, 5-1, to take Chinese Taipei’s first recurve women’s team gold medal of 2019 next to the beach in Antalya. The recurve men’s team gold medal in Antalya went to China, who beat Italy, 5-1. The USA put on probably the best display of the day, averaging 58 points a set in a 6-2 victory over Ukraine for bronze.
