

Book 4, Article 9.3.8.2.1

A question was raised by the FITA Secretary General regarding the use of an anchor plate or similar device in the 3D Barebow Division.

The Constitution and Rules Committee finds that the question presented is within the terms of reference of the Technical Committee. The Field Archery Committee and the Ad Hoc 3D Committee have been consulted regarding the question presented. C&R has determined that the following interpretation of the Technical Committee is not contrary to the existing rules or Congress decisions and is consistent with the opinions of the Field Archery Committee and the Ad Hoc 3D Committee.

In light of the Technical Committee's opinion below, the Ad Hoc 3D Committee's conclusion that Article 11.10.3.8.1 contains an error as printed, and the concurrence of the Field Committee, C&R, pursuant to Book 1, Article 1.17.1 (bullet 2), hereby agrees that the correction to Article 11.10.3.8.1 below is appropriate and permitted by the Constitution and Rules.

Response from the Technical Committee:

Anchor Plate for Barebow and 3D Barebow Divisions

It is the majority decision of the FITA Technical Committee that the "Anchor Plate" as used in the FITA recurve division and also allowed in the FITA barebow division, is also legal for use in the 3D barebow division. The Technical Committee feels that there was simply an error in printing the rules as there should be no reason for the anchor plate to be allowed in one division and not the other. The shooting disciplines in question are extremely similar in many aspects of the shooting style and should share the same rules concerning finger protection.

Additionally, the Technical Committee can see no benefit whatsoever for use of an anchor plate in any barebow division as most of the anchor points used by those competitors is "corner of the mouth" rather than an under the chin anchor. The use of an anchor plate in this case would be more of a hindrance than an advantage for the competitor.

Therefore, under article 11.10.3.1.8.1., the rule should state that "An anchor plate or similar device attached to the finger protection (tab) for the purpose of anchoring is ~~not~~ permitted". Strike out the word "not" from the text.

FITA Technical Committee, 9 January 2008

Approved by the FITA C&R Committee, 13 January 2008

INTERPRETATIONS

FITA CONSTITUTION AND RULES

Book 5, Article 11.10.3.8.1

A question was raised by the FITA Secretary General regarding the use of an anchor plate or similar device in the 3D Barebow Division.

The Constitution and Rules Committee finds that the question presented is within the terms of reference of the Technical Committee. The Field Archery Committee and the Ad Hoc 3D Committee have been consulted regarding the question presented. C&R has determined that the following interpretation of the Technical Committee is not contrary to the existing rules or Congress decisions and is consistent with the opinions of the Field Archery Committee and the Ad Hoc 3D Committee.

In light of the Technical Committee's opinion below, the Ad Hoc 3D Committee's conclusion that Article 11.10.3.8.1 contains an error as printed, and the concurrence of the Field Committee, C&R, pursuant to Book 1, Article 1.17.1 (bullet 2), hereby agrees that the correction to Article 11.10.3.8.1 below is appropriate and permitted by the Constitution and Rules.

Response from the Technical Committee:

Anchor Plate for Barebow and 3D Barebow Divisions

It is the majority decision of the FITA Technical Committee that the "Anchor Plate" as used in the FITA recurve division and also allowed in the FITA barebow division, is also legal for use in the 3D barebow division. The Technical Committee feels that there was simply an error in printing the rules as there should be no reason for the anchor plate to be allowed in one division and not the other. The shooting disciplines in question are extremely similar in many aspects of the shooting style and should share the same rules concerning finger protection.

Additionally, the Technical Committee can see no benefit whatsoever for use of an anchor plate in any barebow division as most of the anchor points used by those competitors is "corner of the mouth" rather than an under the chin anchor. The use of an anchor plate in this case would be more of a hindrance than an advantage for the competitor.

Therefore, under article 11.10.3.1.8.1., the rule should state that "An anchor plate or similar device attached to the finger protection (tab) for the purpose of anchoring is ~~not~~ permitted". Strike out the word "not" from the text.

FITA Technical Committee, 9 January 2008

Approved by the FITA C&R Committee, 13 January 2008